

Stephen Bessasparis

61 Broadway, Suite 2010, New York, NY 10006

stephen.bessasparis@ethree.com

ENERGY AND ENVIRONMENTAL ECONOMICS, INC.

New York, NY

Associate

Stephen Bessasparis supports E3's Asset Valuation and Markets practice area. Stephen joined E3 after earning dual graduate degrees in Public Affairs and Environmental Science, energy policy concentration, from Indiana University. He previously worked as an energy analyst for the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission and served for seven years in the U.S. Army as an Infantry and Military Intelligence Officer. He graduated from Bucknell University in 2014 with a B.A. in International Relations.

FEDERAL ENERGY REGULATORY COMMISSION

Washington, DC

Energy Industry Analyst

2022

- Researched and briefed a report on Commission policies and precedents regarding storage as a transmission asset, including options for future Commission action
- Provided analytical support to multiple sections of an RTO/ISO's Order 2222 compliance filing memo to support FERC senior staff decision-making

INDIANA UNIVERSITY, NEXTGEN LEADERSHIP PROGRAM

Bloomington, Indiana

Graduate Assistant

2021-2023

- Assisted in operations planning and program execution of a 150-student leadership organization
- Independently developed and executed 4 educational workshops on leadership; aided multiple Professors to develop classroom materials for 5 developmental workshops and retreats

U.S. ARMY

Lewis-McChord, WA and Indianapolis, IN

Military Intelligence Officer

2018-Present

- Conducted time-sensitive intelligence analysis for a 4500-Soldier unit; briefed executive leaders to drive large-scale operational decisions and future capability development
- Collected and analyzed physical and personnel security vulnerability information, producing over 20 actionable assessments to mitigate risk while enabling operations
- Liaised with military, government, and nongovernmental organizations to build understanding and consensus around common goals

Infantry Officer

Fort Drum, NY

2014-2018

- Led a 40-Soldier unit in training for combat; Second-in-command to 180-Soldier unit
- Developed newly-formed team to fully-functional combat-ready unit within 4 months
- Leveraged database software and professional relationships to maintain over $10 million worth of government property and equipment

Plans Officer

Bagram, Afghanistan
2016

- Analyzed security and operations information for over 30 NATO missions, advising commander on employment of resources to accomplish a given mission set

Education

O'Neill School of Public and Environmental Affairs, Indiana University
M.S., Environmental Science (Energy Policy)
MPA (Energy Policy)

Bloomington, Indiana
December 2023

Bucknell University
B.A., International Relations, minor, Philosophy

Lewisburg, Pennsylvania
May 2014